17-Year-Old Boy Given Jail Term

Found guilty of a charge of petty theft, as result of stealing two fish poles belonging to a Japanese, Elgin Joberg, 17-year-old Walters school boy, was sentenced to serve five days in the city jail Monday.

The Japanese identified his poles shortly after he had missed them last Saturday. Joberg, who lives at 2142 Nocece avenue, started serving his sentence immediately after his trial.

Abandon Fern Street Site for New School

There are to be three propositions on the ballot: Two bond issues, one for elementary schools for $5,750,000, and the other for high schools for $6,350,000; and the third proposition is whether or not a Los Angeles Junior College District is to be formed.

The present Los Angeles Junior College, numbering almost 3000 students, is maintained as a part of the high school district and is financed largely by local taxation. If a Junior College District is formed, $100 will be received from the state for each pupil in attendance rather than $37 as at present. The present Los Angeles Junior College amounts to approximately $235,000 annually, and is paid by the taxpayers of Los Angeles with the local district receiving no part of this revenue.

The chamber's letter, signed by Dr. J. S. Lancaster, chairman of the Educational committee, to William A. Sheldon, secretary to the Board of Education, follows:

"During the last three or four weeks, since the receipt of your letter regarding the latest communication regarding the Educational committee's contact with your Board in reference to Torrance school matters, this bureau has been besieged with inquiries regarding the pending school bond issue, particularly as to the bond issue might affect the satisfaction of the matters presented to your Board for consideration at the time of our interview.

"The record of the community toward bond issues and sustaining the Board's Education at times for their elections is a matter of which this community is favorably conscious of and justly proud. We hope that the results of the 27th instant will reflect the same type of record. Naturally, in view of pending queries concerning the establishment of vocational and Junior College classes and the replacement of the bungalows at the Fern street site with a modern building adequate to take care of the full elementary grade program are questions which the electorate of this community expects to be answered by the success of the pending bond issues.

"Our local newspaper, as you have probably observed, has so far loyally supported the preliminary campaign matter toward the success of the bond program. But, as stated in the prefatory paragraph of this letter, the press as well as this bureau is being somewhat besieged with inquiries to insure the satisfaction of the public's expectancy on the questions of local benefits.

"At the direction of the Board of Directors of this bureau, I am therefore hastening this communication to you as chairman of the Educational committee with the request that your office furnish this bureau as quickly as possible with commitments or expression indications answering the questions propounded in this communication. The Educational committee feels that it is essential that this information be received not later than Wednesday, March 25, which will enable our local press to conclude its expressions favorably.

"We are grateful for the kindly considerations which the Board has shown toward this community in the past and believe that the requests now before you concerning this community are thoroughly consistent and will receive your pledge for support."

Last Rites For Mrs. M. Taylor Are Impressive

Impressive funeral services were held March 16 for Mrs. Mary Elizabeth Taylor, who died March 13 at her home, 1819 Cabrillo avenue, after a long period of ill health. Mrs. Taylor, who was nearly 72 years old, had been a resident here for the past two and a half years.

Mrs. Taylor was born near New Martinsville, West Virginia, April 25, 1859. She was a member of the Christian church for the past 50 years, but since coming to this city her health kept her from taking an active interest in the local church. The services were held at Stone and Myers chapel with Rev. George Elder officiating. Interment followed at Roosevelt Memorial Park.

Left to mourn her loss are a brother, Hudson Taylor, Maud, West Virginia; two sisters, Mrs. Viola Taylor, Barborton, Ohio, and Mrs. Mahulda Peters, Canton, Ohio; a niece, Vada B. Taylor, Twenty-Nine Palms, California; and a host of friends. Out-of-town relatives and friends who attended the funeral were Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Taylor and son of Lancaster, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Taylor and M. F. Taylor of Hawthorne; Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Taylor and children of Twenty-Nine Palms, and Mrs. A. Krushat of Harbor City.
